

This document elaborates on how to move on under given conditions

First of all

I just hope that you and your beloved ones are all in good health.

What was planned?

We have decided at the beginning of the semester that we would add character to our lab, which was a well deserved suit for our lab. We started with all the good intentions and contribution from all of you were nothing remarkable. I did enjoy every bit of it so far during the meetings. Yet, then very much expected yet underestimated (I am referring to my personal short sightedness here) COVID-19 hit us the way it just hit. And now, we have to replan everything. . .

So what is next:

- I expect to strictly observe a voluntary curfew. Hence, I do not plan to meet you folks in person, and I do not want you folks to meet in person to work on the projects.
- I do not want you to access the lab and hence, I will disable electronic entrance to the lab next week. Therefore, if you have any personal items in the lab, please do get them before wednesday (i.e. 25th of March).
- I am working on a new format for the rest of the semester so that we can continue working together (in groups) without having to physically come together.
- On the week of 23rd – 29th please do go over the webots simulator and make sure that you understand how it works. You can also start grasping the basic concepts by visiting robot benchmark web site.
- I plan to have a group meeting and announce date and time hopefully in a couple of days.

more to come soon
